I am a recent graduate looking to start my career in the web-development industry, having developed skills in PHP, SQL, HTML, CSS and Java through personal projects. Now that I have created my own website, dailyhistoryfacts.com, I am now seeking to employ these skills in a professional setting.

EXPERIENCE

AUG 2017 – NOV 2020

CUSTOMER ASSISTANT, TESCO

I held a wider variety of responsibilities while at Tesco, in terms of efficiently deploying stock from the warehouse to the shop floor, ensuring stock was presented well, and taking care of many customer needs. I was given autonomy how I handled many of these tasks and developed many of my own efficient methods for completing them well.

OCT 2015 – JAN 2016

CUSTOMER ASSISTANT, SAINSBURY'S

During the busy Christmas season, I was tasked with expediting checkout processes without sacrificing customer service quality. I learned to work quickly under pressure, and I developed many customer-related social skills.

FEB 2014 – MAY 2015

JANITOR, ADDERBURY DAY NURSERY

I took this position while completing my GCSEs in order to garner work experience and to gain vocational skills for future opportunities. I learned both to work as part of a team and to prioritize tasks to a strict deadline.

EDUCATION

JULY 2021

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE, UNIVERSITY OF READING

My experience at university enabled me to work more independently - working to deadlines, developing my analytical skills and performing abstract tasks with limited guidance. I achieved a 2-1 through consistently taking pride in my work and immersing myself in the relevant topics.

SKILLS

- The ability to balance multiple tasks and to prioritize as necessary.
- A strong work ethic, bolstered by the pride I take in my work.
- Communication skills developed for both colleagues and supervisors.
- Familiarity with object-oriented programming and the MVC model.
- An eagerness to learn and desire to understand as much as possible about topics I am working with.
- The ability to work well in a team, assuming responsibility and sharing
- Good intuition for syntax of a variety of programming languages.
- Understanding of both back and front-end processes.

ACTIVITIES

I have dedicated much of my free time during my education to the development of my other skills. For instance, I have/` completed courses on both Coursera and Codecamey to expand my knowledge of coding, learning how to use PHP, SQL, HTML CSS, and Java. The development of dailyhistoryfacts.com has allowed me to use these skills in a practical setting and given me the opportunity to also learn associated tools, such as CSS plugins like Bootstrap or version control managers like GIT. Additionally, I have expanded my horizons through developing my language skills, using tools such as Duolingo and Babbel to teach myself Swedish at a high level, and to expand on my German from school. I also enjoy using microfinancing sites such as Deki in order to provide small business in emerging economies with a 0% interest loan to support their growth.
